UA Study Abroad Application Fee

Students must pay a non-refundable $50 UA Study Abroad application fee that will be charged to a student's UA Bursar's account when an application is opened.

UA Tuition and Fees

Students must pay their regular UA tuition and fees as part of their study abroad program. Please note: UA tuition and fees are calculated based on several factors, including residency status, number of units offered in your study abroad program, and guaranteed tuition rates.

Study Abroad Program Cost

Students may be responsible for other charges based on their selected study abroad program. These charges may include housing, meals, transportation, excursions, and other student fees and will vary from program to program. Please visit the Budget Link on the webpage of your selected program to view the specific program charges and how they are billed. More information can also be found in the Billing section below.

Mandatory International Health Insurance

All students will be enrolled into a comprehensive and mandatory international health insurance plan with GeoBlue Health Insurance. The cost will be billed at $3 per day for each day of the study abroad program, plus two days on either end of the program dates to allow for travel time.

BILLING

UA Study Abroad will bill program charges to a student's UA Bursar's account in accordance with UA Bursar's Office Dates and Deadlines for the appropriate study abroad term.

Charges may appear on a student's UA Bursar's account in any combination of the following three categories: TUIT (tuition), HOUS (housing) and OTHR (other).

Completion of the Commit to Program Form in UAAbroad following acceptance into a study abroad program serves as the student's official financial commitment to participate in a UA Study Abroad program. In the event that a student decides to withdraw from a program, the student's UA Bursar's account will be charged in accordance with the UA Study Abroad Withdrawal Policy.
